

AB MAURI UK&I completes the double acquisition of Holgran and Fleming Howden from Rank Hovis Milling Ltd.

The following statement was released today; Wednesday July 11th, 2018.

AB MAURI UK and Ireland is delighted to confirm that on Saturday June 30th, 2018, it successfully completed the acquisition of both Holgran and Fleming Howden from Rank Hovis Milling Ltd. Holgran and Fleming Howden are located in Gainsborough, Lincolnshire and Newbridge, Edinburgh respectively.

Both businesses are well established with rich heritages and have strong reputations. They are well-run and have highly capable, passionate and dedicated teams of people; principles that align perfectly to the business values of AB MAURI. Coupled with their strong heritages and reputations built up over many years, it's an exciting time for these businesses to come together and extend the AB MAURI portfolio.

In Holgran, we have a renowned supplier of malted grains, seeds and blend inclusions; which complements our existing portfolio of products. In Fleming Howden, we have an excellent operator, long renowned for sourcing, manufacturing and distributing a wide range of yeast and bakery ingredients; delivering excellent service to the Scottish bakery industry.

In light of these exciting acquisitions, AB MAURI expects to develop its existing technical capability and broaden market opportunities alike. Most importantly, AB MAURI will be able to build on its ability to flexibly respond to customers.

AB MAURI looks forward to building a bright future and to continue moving forward in a positive direction.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Andrew M Pollard", with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.

Andrew M Pollard
Managing Director
AB MAURI UK & Ireland